Excerpt: .t A. The same power which the King had placed before in his lieutenants and deputy-lieutenants, in the several counties, and without other limitation of time but their own pleasure. B. Who were the men that should have this power? A. There is a catalogue of them printed. They are very many, and most of them lords; nor is it necessary to have them named; for to name them is (in my opinion) to brand them with the mark of disloyalty or of folly. When they had made a catalogue of them, they sent it to the King, with a new petition for the militia. Also presently after, they sent a message to his Majesty, praying him to leave the Prince at Hampton Court; but the King granted neither. B. Howsoever, it was wisely done of them to get hostages (if they could) of...
