Excerpt from Address on Dr. Temple: Late Archbishop of Canterbury, Sometime Head Master of Rugby School, Delivered in New Big School, Rugby, on Sunday, June 28, 1903 My subject is Dr. Temple at Rugby - I have in my mind both the man and the place. Temple was a great personality who loomed large, but he never wished to stand apart as a superior being; he regarded himself simply as one set to do his duty, wherever it called him, in the life of his day; he came to Rugby, Rugby did not come to him. He exercised great influence upon the School, and it was different in many ways for having known him, but it was still the same Rugby, Rugby of the past and of the future. I. So first let me say something of Rugby as he found it. It seems a long way back to go - very ancient history to you - it ought to seem ancient history to me - for the time of Temple's coming (1858) is as far removed from you as the antediluvian times of Wool! in the earlier years of the last century stood from me.
