University of Washington Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 234 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 5.8in. x 0.6in. With the nuclearization of the Indian subcontinent, Indo-Pakistani crisis behavior has acquired a deadly significance. The past two decades have witnessed no fewer than six crises against the backdrop of a vigorous nuclear arms race. Except for the Kargil war of 1998-9, all these events were resolved peacefully. Nuclear war was avoided despite bitter mistrust, everyday tensions, an intractable political conflict over Kashmir, three wars, and the steady refinement of each sides nuclear capabilities. Sumit Ganguly and Devin T. Hagerty carefully analyze each crisis, reviewing the Indian and Pakistani domestic political systems and key decisions during the relevant period. This lucid and comprehensive study of the two nations crisis behavior in the nuclear age is the first work on Indo-Pakistani relations to take systematic account of the role played by the United States in South Asias security dynamics over the past two decades in the context of unipolarization, and formulates a blueprint for American policy toward a more positive and productive India-Pakistan relationship. Sumit Ganguly is professor of political science and Rabindranath Tagore Chair of Indian Cultures and Civilizations at Indiana University, Bloomington. Devin T. Hagerty is associate professor of political science at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County. This book provides a timely review of how India and Pakistan have several times nearly allowed their grievances to lead to war - and how, each time, they managed to dodge disaster. - Steve Coll, Pulitzer Prize-winning author of Ghost Wars An outstanding book which shows that nuclear weapons are a force for peace, but with major qualifications. -- John J. Mearsheimer, University of Chicago Explains a great deal about . . . important events, many of them not well known, and about international rivalry in general....
