Excerpt from The Case of the Private Armed Brig. of War, Gen. Armstrong: Containing Letters and Documents Referring to the History of the Claim; Brief of Facts, and Authorities Cited; Arguments of Charles O Connor, Esq., Hon. P. Phillips, and Sam C. Reid, Jr.; And Brief of the U. S. Solicitor We present to the public, a full Report of the Case of the private armed brig-of-war General Armstrong. The cause itself is of the most marked and unusual legal and historical interest to the profession and the country at large. The history of the prosecution of this Claim by the United States Government against Portugal, for a period of over thirty-eight years - involving a correspondence with some of the most distinguished men of the United States, Portugal, England, and France - as unfolded in the able arguments of the distinguished counsel, will be found as interesting as it is remarkable. This celebrated cause treats of, and the opinion of the court decides upon, some of the most interesting and important points of International Law relating to the rights and duties of Neutral Powers, and their obligations towards belligerents; of the obligations and duties of the Government towards its citizens, and its liabilities; of arbitration and submission; of the duties of the arbitrator, of the award, and its validity, etc., which will render this work invaluable as a reference and authority for the diplomat, the statesman, the jurist, and the lawyer.
